SOUTH POLE IS DISCOVERED
TWO MEN CLAIM THE HONOR

CAPT. AMUNDSEN NOW CLAIMS TO HAVE LOCATED THE POLE
LAST DECEMBER BEFORE
CAPT. SCOTT FOUND IT.

CHRISTIANA, Norway, March 8.—This is a wildy excited today by announcement that a cablegram has been received from Capt. Roald Amundsen by his brother, sent from Hobart, Tasmania, and reading as follows:

"The south pole was attained between December 14th and 17th, 1911. All is well."

It is now been definitely announced that Capt. Amundsen has discovered the south pole.

King Haakon has also received a cablegram from Capt. Amundsen, but the contents of the message have not been made public.

Later it was learned the cablegram to King Haakon read exactly the same as the one received by Capt. Amundsen's brother.

Amundsen Denies Interview—
HOBART, Tasmania, Mar. 8.—Capt. Amundsen positively denies sending a cablegram making any reference to Capt. Scott, the British explorer.

No Word From Scott—
LONDON, March 8—Capt. Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, stands alone today as the claimant of the honor of reaching the south pole. Nothing has been heard from Capt. Scott.

Dispatches from Hobart today say Amundsen is making a great mystery of his mission. He refuses to allow anybody to go aboard his ship, the Fram, or to communicate with the members of his crew. None of the crew is allowed to go ashore.

Beyond claiming that he has discovered the pole and is pleased with the result of the expedition, Capt. Amundsen refuses to further discuss the expedition.

Message of Greeting—
CHRISTIANA, Norway, March 8.—A telegram expressing the warmest greeting, was today sent to Capt. Amundsen by the Strothong, the Norwegian parliament.

PRISONERS WANT DAILY PAPERS SENT TO THEM.

W. T. Smith of Pleasanton, Kan., was discharged from the stockade of the DeLeon Naval Stores company near DeLand last week, was in the city Monday. He said that while all of the men confined in the stockade realized that they had been placed there for their misdeeds, they still thought they should have better treatment in a few instances.

The greatest complaint comes from the fact that the men are not allowed to read any daily newspapers. This order was promulgated by the secretary of agriculture, B. E. McLean. They are allowed to receive mail and magazines, but not the daily papers.

Another complaint which was made for the men by Smith is that while they do not complain as to the kind or amount of work they are compelled to perform, they do kick against the long hours, "from sun to sun," as they express it. They also complain that the "grub" furnished them is, in many instances, not calculated to aid one very much in the performance of one's labors.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

NEGRO ARRESTED BY LOCAL PO-LICE PROVES TO BE BUSINESS MAN IN MEMPHIS AND IS TURNED LOOSE.

The negro arrested by local police on suspicion of being one of the pickpockets who operated during the speech of Booker T. Washington at the Mt. Zion church Wednesday evening, was released by Justice Zuber after the preliminary hearing this morning.

The negro gave his name as Ed. Green and the claim that he is in business in Memphis, Tenn., was investigated and found to be true.

The negro said he was on his way north when he learned that Booker T. Washington was to speak here Wednesday evening, so he stopped over in Daytona to hear the talk.

After the speech of the noted negro lectures he went to his room and went to bed, arising early to catch the early morning train for Jacksonville. While waiting for the train at the depot he was placed under arrest.

None of the witnesses was able to in any way identify the negro as the man who relieved them of their cash in the crowd at the church and there was no evidence on which to hold him.

The local police are still looking for the two pickpockets who did a good business at the Washington speech.

KNOX REACHES HONDURAS GREETED BY OFFICIALS.

AMALPA, Honduras, Mar. 8.—Secretary of State Knox arrived in Honduras today. This is the third country he has visited on the present trip. When the cruiser Maryland arrived the ship was saluted and the members of the party were greeted by the local officials.

CHEYENNE FRONTIER DAY TO BE LECTURE SUBJECT.

Miss Elizabeth Helena Soule, who is to lecture on "Frontier Day's Festival in Cheyenne," Saturday evening at the New Daytona theater, is a prominent teacher of dramatic art in Boston, Mass., and is also well known as a successful lecturer and reader from Maine to California. She is an active member of the New England Woman's Press Association, and a contributor to several magazines.

For her platform talks Miss Soule gathers her information on the spot, or "first hand," as evidenced in her illustrated lectures on Yellowstone Park, Grand Canyon, and her recent subject, "Frontier Day's Festival in Cheyenne." This lecture is illustrated by 125 slides of rare interest, with instructive information concerning them, and bits of personal experience add the "high lights" to the pictures, otherwise so thrilling and impressive.

SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga., March 8.—For negroes were crushed to death and nine white persons were injured, six of them seriously, this morning, when passenger train No. 4 on the Georgia railroad crashed headon into a freight train here.

The two locomotives were completely demolished. The bodies of the dead are buried under the debris of the Jim Crow car.

The officials of the road declare the wreck was the result of the crew of the freight train disobeying train orders.

The first class passenger and Pullman coaches remained on the track and were not damaged in the smash-up.

LAST CHANCE TO QUALIFY
BY PAYING POLL TAXES.

Tomorrow, March 9, is the last day for citizens to pay poll taxes and qualify for the primary election April 30. Poll taxes for the two preceding years must be paid for voters to qualify and if they are not paid by tomorrow it means disqualification for the primary. Any voter who has not paid his poll tax and desires to participate in the approaching election, would better hustle now.

JUST GOSSIP BY THE GOSSIPER.

Does it pay to advertise? Ask Asa Paine. Mr. Paine recently decided to dispose of his residence property in this city, and was in a quandary as to just how to do it. The time for his start back north had been set and he had just three days in which to dispose of the property before starting for his home in Minneapolis. The happy thought that an advertisement in the Daily News might help him came to Mr. Paine and he proceeded to suit the "hunch" to action, and had the description of his property, together with the announcement that it was for sale, inserted in the Daily News the second time Thursday evening and as a result Mr. Paine was visited by about a dozen persons Thursday, all desiring to purchase a residence property in Daytona, and all requesting time for consideration. The advertisement appeared in the Daily News the second time Thursday evening, was read by a man who wanted to buy a home here, and who went to see Mr. Paine Friday morning and closed the deal for the purchase of the property.

From Lucile's It Made A Difference Diary

Uncle Malmain. One, my erstwhile tutor, was married and to an eastern girl whom I had never even seen speak to so as to find that the mother I noticed the announcement of the wedding I determined to be the first to entertain them when he brought his little home to Chicago. I decided to have them to dinner with just Uncle Bob and Betty to meet them, as I thought a small, intimate party would be the most friendly.

My invitation was answered by a rather stiff little note from the bride. I took it to mother, thinking she would be annoyed by its proneness. She read it and then cast one of her mysterious glances at me.

"Why, Lucile," she exclaimed, "is it possible that you invited company to dinner Saturday night? Didn't you remember that we are all going out to your Uncle John's farm for the week end?"

"That's so, I had quite forgotten it," I said. "I'll have to stay at home, though."

"But I've promised Tilly a few days' vacation at that time and so even if you do stay at home I don't see how you can give a dinner party. I do wish you would consult me before you issue invitations."

"Oh, dear!" I sighed. "It seems to me that whenever I try to have a little pleasure something goes wrong."

"Well, dear, don't feel so badly," said mother, seeing the tears in my eyes. "Surely, you can postpone the dinner."

"No, I can't. It would be too awkward, for I don't know Malmain's wife at all. But if Cousin Fannie will only stay at home from Uncle John's side and I can get up a nice little dinner and maybe Betty would bring her maid to wait on the table."

"Fannie is so fond of the farm that I have to ask her to give up the cottage," said mother, in her undivided way.

"Oh, I'll ask her, mother," I returned. "She would enjoy going to the farm just as much some other time, I'm sure."

Saturday morning when grandmother and father and mother were surprised to find that Cousin Fannie and I weren't going to the farm with the others.

"Lucile had an engagement for tonight and Fannie is going to stay and act as chaperone," explained mother.

"I don't like it at all," grumbled father. "Lucile is the one of yours."

"Don't mind me, daddy dear," I interrupted. "I simply have to keep my engagement. It is a favor for that I'd just love to do to Uncle John's wife. Next time you must surely take me. Anyway I am saving a little money by not going. The return fare is $5.00 but if I'd just give me that amount, I won't have to ask you for anything extra this week's allowance, as I was afraid I'd have to do."

He handed me a $5 bill. "I can't quite understand your system of finance," he said as he kissed me good-bye, but he laughed and I felt glad that his wisdom had passed away. I think I understand father even better than mother does.

A few minutes after the family left, Betty telephoned me that she and Uncle Bob had just got me home and they wanted me to come, but they didn't come for me and promised to go out to the farm also. She said she wished that I had invited them earlier so they could have arranged to come, as she wasn't very keen on going to the farm.

"It's too bad you can't come, but I'm sure you'll enjoy the visit to Uncle John's," I said comfortingly. "On the way, dear, will you please tell Mollie to come over this afternoon in time to help set the table?"

"Yes," she snapped at the time of the receiver. Betty's manners are imprudent, to say the least.

The dinner was very good. I made the mayonnaise and whipped the cream for the dessert. Malmain seemed very much impressed when I told him that I had prepared the dinner myself with Cousin Fannie's help.

"You are adding cooking to your other accomplishments," he said.

"That's what my wife is going to do when you get home," I said.

"Yes," she answered gruffly. She was very quiet indeed, and the more Malmain and I talked and laughed over some of the good old times we used to have the siller she grew.

I really don't see how Malmain ever happened to marry such a glib, little creature with no virtue.

She seriously smiled even when I related how when attending a house party once, Malmain and I ran away by ourselves late one evening for a midnight romp and in our haste to get into the boat, I fell into the water and he carried me, dripping, back to the house. Where every one thought him quite a hero for rescuing me, for they didn't know that the water was only a foot deep where I fell. We laughed heartily at the recollection, but she merely turned to Cousin Fannie and asked in her mild way if she was found of boating and such things.

Poor Malmain! I fear his marriage was a mistake.

"How!" burst out the young man suspiciously after his sister had mentioned at his door the sixth time to ask if there wasn't something she could do to help him get ready for the party to which he was going. "What's the matter, anyhow, Sam? Do you think I'm so desperate that I'm not able any longer to stave myself off or is it that you love me so you can't keep away from me?"

"I think you're horrid and rude," said the young man's sister, opening the door and entering. "Of course I'm fond of you, Jimmy. Finer than you realize." "Always have your head somewhere at heart!"

"It's a touch!" he said surprisedly. "It's gone after the holidays, too!"

"Jimmy," said his sister, setting herself and shaking her head at him sorrowfully, "you haven't a bit of sentiment or any of the finer emotions, have you? I don't want a thing! I just wanted to talk to you. Why don't you get married?"

The young man laid down the clothes brush he was using and, leaning toward her, snarled. "Don't you feel well?" he asked with sufficient in his voice.

"Do you think you are funny?" she asked, indignantly.

"Nasty," said the young man, getting up with his brushing, "a fellow's mother and sister throw spances if he suggests marriage for himself and the whole family has hysterics, so I don't understand you."

"I'd just love to see you married, Jimmy," his sister declared, eagerly. "Honestly! Nothing would please me more than to have you pick out the right sort of girl and settle down in your own comfortable little home. Think how nice it would be for me to have a sister and what fun she and I could have together and how glad I would be for you."

"Would you really feel that way?" the young man asked, with interest. "I hadn't any idea—I thought you'd end up a terrible row if I did such a thing!"

"That's all you know about me, Jimmy," his sister insisted, sweetly. "You don't appreciate the depth of my affection in the least! Why, I would be a selfish, horrid creature if I didn't want you to be happy! I can't imagine why you should have got such an idea in your head! And you're such an all-around fine boy, too, that you deserve a mighty fine girl, let me tell you!"

"I am astonished," declared the young man, seriously. "All these revelations are overwhelming. Particularly after the years of sisterly lectures on which I have been brought up. I thank you!"

"Oh, be mean! If you want to," said his sister. "Only I hope you'll be on your best behavior the next two weeks because I have a great meeting. Of course, I don't expect you to give up your engagements to help me out, but if you could find time to be a little nice to Harriet, I'd be obliged. You've heard me talk of her—tall and a ravishing beauty and the family has heaps of money and she refused a millionaire the year she...

"I see it all," said the young woman's brother. "You want me to tell it now to Harriet and marry her!"

"Now, Jimmy," protested his sister. "How absurd of you! As though I didn't think you could manage your own affairs without my help! You'll be perfectly crazy about her complexion and she is the sweetest—but I wouldn't have you think not for the world that I had any notion like that in mind. I was just speaking in the abstract. Just in a general way. You are such a suspicious person!"

"I see," said his brother, searching out his dress mother. "It is merely that you feel it is time for me to marry and settle down and you have no other motives—you'd be perfectly happy if you could be sure that I was honest—such that it."

"Of course," said his sister. "I'm surprised that you could think anything else. Harriet certainly has a way with her. And there have I don't know how many automobiles and a place on Long Island and she'd be the liveliest sort of a girl to have in the family."

"You don't know how relieved I am," interrupted the young man, racing up for his silk hat box, "to find you have such warm-hearted sympathy and so much interest in my future. It makes it easier to tell you that I've just got engaged to Marion Brooks—the one we went to school with!"

"James Henry Ward," gasped his sister, as she fumbled for her handkerchief. "That girl! That insignificant poor as poverty ordinary girl, when—and I don't see why you want to get married, anyway—aren't you perfectly comfortable here at home? Men are such blots!"

Reptiles That Have Long Life.
Some of the sacred crocodiles of India are said to be over a hundred, and vast estimates have been made of the ages of the giant tortoises of Madagascar. Certainly there was still recently (and may be still) a tortoise in the garden of the Governor of Capetown which came there eighty years ago, and was believed to be 120 when it arrived.

Boy's Bright Idea.
While teaching a class in the second grade, I once asked a little boy to tell what he could about the appearance of an Indian. After reciting at some length, he finished with the following statement: "He shaves all the hair off his head except a little bit on top, which is called 'the Happy Hunting Ground.'"

Wisely Answered.
I am clearly for following Thimstocles' advice, who being once asked how he would marry his daughter, whether to one that was poor but honest, or to one that was rich but of an evil reputation, made answer: "I had rather have a man without an estate than an estate without a man."—

Ability Must Be Paid For.
There is an old saying that the gods sell us all the good they give us. The man of the most ability does not have it bestowed upon him without a price, and that price is self-control — thing to be worked for laboriously, but which obtained is the first of faculties.

Had Approval of Clerk.
An Atchison business man, who has a small store, recently hired a clerk who was very shiftless. He didn't attend to his duties. "I think I'll have to hire another clerk," said the business man. "You ought to," was the reply, "there's too much work here for just one clerk."

RUN ON JACKSONVILLE'S SODA FOUNTAINS

Large Demand for Non-Stimulating Refreshment.

(Times-Union, Jacksonville, Fla.
Nov. 13, 1911.)

Have you tried the new one? was the question asked by Jacksonville's thirsty, fatigued, indigestion and headache troubled men and women during last week.

It was quickly rumored that the new one was full of zest and palatably different to the usual run of sweet, stomach-disturbing and habit-forming beverage. Instead, when taking Sloat's Vegetable Bitters with Seitzer water (for that is the name of the new one), you are drinking a refreshing, non-harmful, undoped, stomach-strengthening tonic. Sloat's Vegetable Bitters is purely Vegetable, free from dope or habit-forming drug, and when taken in Seitzer water is the ideal thirst reliever, because it refreshes without stimulating, relieves headache, indigestion, shopping fatigue and nervousness and is served everywhere in town.

"We had a tremendous run on Sloat's all last week," said a Bay street soda fountain man yesterday, "and this shows the Sloat Brothers Company hit the situation right in placing their undoped Bitters with the fountain trade. The large number of requests for this new one shows there are thousands of people who are tired of the many 'colds' which lack medicinal qualities and in Sloat's and Seitzer find that pure, non-harmful drink they have been looking for. If my trade is any criterion, Sloat's and Seitzer is going to be a winner in every part of the country where there is a soda fountain."

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

FRUITS FOR BREAKFAST, PROTEIDS FOR DINNER.

Every reader of these hints must be fully convinced of the loss of health and efficiency due to Indiscriminate mixing of foods.
The less mixing the better,
the ideal being the monodiet,
one article of food for a meal,
a system which is imperative for the invalid. All the green vegetables are harmonious,
but the best is lettuce.
Cabbage, uncooked, is the next choice. But there is no element of food in green vegetables which can not be well supplied in apples, oranges, lemons and pineapple, to which the breakfast may well be confined. For the sedentary worker, during the summer months the light breakfast menus are particularly appropriate; bananas and prunes will suit better those who are engaged in manual labor and can not eat before noon after leaving home early in the morning. Figs and raisins are also substantial foods, containing every element of nutrition and much heat and energy in form easily assimilated, thus saving vitality. It is not necessary to take eggs, milk, cheese, or cereals with these natural breakfast foods, since the protein elements are supplied in the dinner.

loss himself.

Doings at Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, March 7.—The resuming services and exercises, which are being carried on at the Methodist church this week are most instructive and interesting. The stereopticon lecture of India, the Land of Contrasts, by Robert S. Holmes, from photographs taken by Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, was given on Wednesday evening. Dr. Currie will lecture Friday evening. All services and exercises have been well attended.

Miss Helen Hollings and Miss Ruth, who have been house guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Horn for several weeks, left Wednesday on their return to Indiana. Mrs. Horn is a delightful hostess, and her charming young guests had a round of social pleasures during their visit.

Mr. H. F. Barnes, who last week purchased the C. A. Phillips lot south of their residence property on Pensacola drive, has let the contract for a three-room bungalow to L. H. Burtch, who began work Monday.

Friday afternoon of last week Mrs. A. J. Beasley entertained some country friends at a hard times party. The company were all in costumes, from the queen to the rascals and mountebanks and fun-making prevailed. Mrs. A. Ayres was the bell of the occasion. Mrs. William Roush was the pride for the best written description of one of the costumes. Patch work and quilting was the pastime. Hot Johnny cake, ginger bread and coffee were served.

Mr. and Mrs. De Haas left Monday on their return home to Marquette, Ga., called by business matters a month earlier than they expected to leave here. They have been spending the winter in the Elkhorn cottage on Valley street.

Mrs. G. W. Hy and friend, Mrs. Hoffman of Daytona, Fla., arrived from the south this week and are located for the month in Judge Harris' house on Palmetto avenue.

The Sun Society club met last week at the pleasant home of Mrs. W. H. Reed. This week, Friday, the members will meet at the home of Mrs. W. S. Ode on Hollywood avenue.

It will be an open of interest to Mrs. C. C. H. Fritz's friends and acquaintances here to learn that she is spending the winter in Miami. Mrs. Fritz has occupied the Bernard cottage in Seabreeze several seasons.

Mr. Fritz stopped over here last week enroute to Miami to join his wife in the Magic city.

Mrs. Cole, of Beloit, Wis., is occupying room in the Freeman cottage for the months of March and April.

Mr. Shores and wife, of Atlanta, have taken the upper floor in the same house. Mr. Shores is employed in the general formulating office.

Miss Marguerite Freeman went up to St. Augustine last week, where she will study the nurse course.

A. Vanderveen has the contract for remodeling H. G. Wolfe's stone cottage on the corner of Earl and Pine streets. Work was begun this week.

Mrs. Winters and her grandmother, Mrs. Cherry of Atlanta, Ga., who were here last season, are again located at one of our homes.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Seward, of Glendale, N. Y., came over from Chappaqua Monday for a short stay on the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Gernish, of Ashland, Wis., arrived this week from the south and are here for a short time.

The Dixie Scrybong has been carrying over large crowds to the street carnival this week.

Miss N. C. Sears and wife arrived Saturday from Chicago and joined the other members of their household at their winter home on Peninsula drive. They were accompanied by their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley, of Chicago.

CHILDREN'S PARTY IN CELEBRATION OF BIRTHDAY

A delightful children's party was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Conrad on Orange avenue, in celebration of the ninth anniversary of their little daughter, Jean Frances Conrad.

About 30 of the friends and playmates of the little lady were present, the children in a number of cases being accompanied by their mothers.

The usual children's games were enjoyed and Miss Jessie Chamberlin also entertained the little folks with stories. The house was darkened from the exterior to add to the effect of the lighting and the children enjoyed blowing out the lit candles on the birthday cake and participating in the refreshments which accompanied that pleasant occasion.

A color scheme of pink and white was used. Miss Jean Frances received many presents in remembrance of the day.

CURIOSITIES OF HISTORY

A QUEEN WHO DIED OF A BROKEN HEART.

By A. W. MACE.

On April 8, 1761, Prince George of England, afterward George IV., was married to Catherine of Brunswick, his cousin. It was not a love match, but one of convenience, arranged by the prince's father. Young George consented to the union because his debts, which were stupendous, would thereby be liquidated. He had no love for his bride, and left her at the end of a year. He tried to secure a divorce, but parliament would not grant it. Public sympathy was largely with her, as the prince was considered very much of a scapegoat.

When he was crowned king, in 1820, although she had received no inheritance, Catherine went in state to Westminster abbey, and demanded to be crowned with him. On being refused admission she returned home and in nine days died, it is believed, of a broken heart.
